Correo Aéreo is an award winning multi-instrumental and vocal Latin/World music duo. Performing traditional music of Venezuela, Argentina & Mexico and organically innovating original work with soul, Correo Aéreo combines a stunning array of string and percussive instruments with silken vocal harmonies. Brilliant revamped web site: www.correoaeereo.com

"Los Lobos' David Hidalgo has often stated that to play harp extremely well you most often cannot play other instruments. Abel Rocha calls that wisdom into question since his considerable skill on the harp is matched by his flying fingers on quinta huapanguera, guitar and cuatro. His high, affecting vocal attack often soars above Madeleine's lower register, singing in a startling and affecting reversal of traditional male female harmony...the musical skill of this couple complements the impressive reach of their pan-Hispanic musical repertoire and marks Correo Aereo as one of the most exciting acoustic ensembles to appear in many years.

Introducing JON BROOKS Borealis Recording Artist

A Canadian singer-songwriter who brilliantly distills the anger and injustice defining our present age.

"Since his first solo CD in 2006 Jon Brooks has delivered beautifully crafted and intricately literate songs based in his view of the world. A world which is a seemingly depressing and cruel place, but through his eyes, a world littered with shards of grace in amongst the glowing promise of hope that we humans have to cling to."

—Les Siemieniuk, Penguin Eggs, Winter, 2012

LAURA FUENTES

Photography by Javier Valenzuela

The Fire and Brilliance of Latin American Roots Music from Chile, Mexico, Peru, Puerto Rico and Venezuela

A moderate fee for a miniresidency includes a concert and lecture or classes and all travel including the flight from Lima, Peru. Limited 2012 Latino Heritage Month availability: Thursday, September 13 through Saturday, September 22, 2012.

"Laura was wonderful!...One of the best concerts in the history of our outdoor 'In the Quad' series. She's a very talented singer and the audience loved how she talked about each song and the meaning of its Spanish lyrics...(allowed) people to really appreciate the subtleties of the culture."

FOLK DJ

What a wonderful surprise to receive these two unsolicited comments when Real People's Music announced our exclusive US representation of Jon Brooks on the Folk DJ list serve. Lisa Weitz continues her accomplished Canadian and World representation: lw@lwcommunications.ca 416-624-3466. The Jon Brooks CD Delicate Cages is an absolutely radio worthy artwork. Jon writes, plays and performs (www.borealisrecords.com/products-page/jon-brooks/delicate-cages) with insight and passion. I've been blessed as a Canadian to have enjoyed and given airplay to this album for many months before it arrived for you folks in the US. Enjoy the music—Jon Brooks is a treasure.

I fell in love with Jon Brooks' music and was not disappointed when I saw his live show this past year at NERFA. His songs are important and smart—just this past week, a listener called when I was playing God Pt IV from Moth nor Rust and thought it was a Woody Guthrie tune.

The following are excerpted reviews of the Borealis Recordings Delicate Cages (BCD 220 (www.borealisrecords.com/))

This Toronto based singer-songwriter certainly knows how to put across his message in a self-assured style that will send a shiver down the spine of any 'thinking' man bringing back nostalgic memories of early Dylan and Paxton.

—Pete Fyfe in Folking.com, May 29, 2012

This past late spring, just prior to the 40th Annual Kerrville Folk Festival, I had the distinct pleasure of not only hearing the winner of the 2010 Kerrville Folk Festival New Folk contest, but actually had the privilege to meet him at my friend's place, Lazy Days Canteen in Ingram, Texas. He turned out to be just as genuine a human being as is his music. His latest album, Delicate Cages is just about as good as it gets. Mr. Brooks has one of the most dynamic voices in the music business, let alone the folk music business, I have ever heard. His lyrics are a no holds barred punch to the groin of politics in the world, but for the most part, are directed at his native Canada.
